Environment

Tranby was one of the first farms settled at the time of the Swan River Colony. Tranby is situated next to the Swan River at Maylands and the grounds lead down to the river.

The grounds are accessible for wheelchair access however not all parts of the buildings are accessible wheelchair access. A public toilet has limited disability access. There is a veranda along one side of the house that can be used as shelter from rain or sun.

There is a Tearoom on site which is open to the general public. A public walking and bike path runs alongside the property.

Personal property can be left on the veranda or in a room during the excursion at students and visitors own risk.

The buildings and grounds are accessible to schools by prior arrangement.

Transport
Transport is the responsibility of the school. Parking for cars and buses is available in the public car park off Johnson Street adjacent to Tranby. The National Trust takes no responsibility for transport left unattended.
Student's Capacity
Visiting Tranby allows students to investigate continuity and change over time and gives students a connection with the historic, social, spiritual and aesthetic heritage of Western Australia. A typical excursion takes two hours and includes a guided tour of the house and related activities in the grounds. It may also include a walk along the public footpath by the edge of the river. Tranby can accommodate students of all ages from K - 12. A maximum of 60 students can be accommodated on the site at any time. The house can accommodate three groups of approximately ten to twelve students at any one time.
Supervisor/Supervisory Team
It is the responsibility of the school to develop a supervisory team that meets their specific requirements in line with the recommendations for supervision outlined in this document. The house accommodates three groups of approximately ten to twelve students at any one time. School supervisory teams are asked to organise a rotating timetable so that no more than three smaller groups tour the house at one time The school supervisory team is asked to prepare students for an excursion to this venue using the briefing information provided within this document, and must accompany the students throughout the visit to actively monitor behaviour and intervene as necessary. National Trust Staff and volunteers will lead, demonstrate, perform and present activities but will not undertake any role(s) in a supervisory context. The National Trust advises school staff familiarise themselves with the site before bringing a group.
Involvement of External Providers
Clearances: National Trust staff and volunteers assisting with school visits hold a current Working with Children Check and cards can be shown if requested. Current Accreditations and Qualifications: National Trust staff and volunteers working with children have teaching experience and/or are trained to deliver National Trust heritage education and learning programs. Public Liability Insurance:

Supervision Strategies

The development of appropriate supervision strategies is the responsibility of individual schools. The school supervisory team must accompany the students throughout the visit to actively monitor behaviour and intervene as necessary.

The recommended ratios may vary according to the needs of your students. Please advise if you have any students with special needs so we can attempt to maximize the benefit of their visit.

This venue has a maximum group size of 60 students and suggests school supervisory teams consist of:

- Yrs K – 3 1 adult to 5 students
- Yr 4 – 7 1 adult to 10 students
- Yr 8 – 12 1 adult to 15 students

National Trust Education staff and volunteers will lead, demonstrate, perform and present activities but will not undertake any role(s) in a supervisory context.

Identification of Excursion Participants

Identification of excursion participants is the responsibility of the school, however we require students and school supervisory team members to be easily identifiable for both supervision and education & learning activities with the National Trust.

Suggestions include name tags, uniform if appropriate for the activities, small group identification.

Communication Strategies

Communication strategies between students and school supervisory team are the responsibility of the school. Please ensure everyone recognises the communication strategies.

The National Trust encourages the school supervisory team to have access to a mobile phone that they can be contacted on, and can use to call out during their site visit. Please note the area may be out of range to some mobile phone providers.

Should the school need to contact their staff during an excursion they may do so by contacting Tranby on (08) 9272 2630 or National Trust Head Office on (08) 9321 6088.

Emergency Response Plan

Schools will have their own Emergency Response Plan pertaining to the particular needs of their students.

Tranby has an emergency response plan in place. The Emergency Response Plan can be downloaded from www.ntwa.com.au or is available on request.

In the event of a site emergency, school supervisory teams are required to follow the directions of National Trust staff or volunteers.

It is suggested that school staff have access to a list of names of participating students, contact telephone numbers, student medical information and relevant health information of supervisors. It is recommended that school staff carry a First Aid Kit with them during the excursion.

School supervisory teams are strongly recommended to meet identified supervision requirements to further support these procedures.

Briefing Students and Supervisors

Teachers are advised to brief the school supervisory team and students about standards of conduct, supervision strategies, and emergency response plans prior to their visit to National Trust sites.

At the beginning of each visit National Trust staff and/or volunteers will inform school supervisory staff and students of

- their responsibilities and obligations
- location of toilets
- rules for the visit
- emergency procedures
- the heritage value of the venue
