Excursion content can be tailored to suit individual teacher's needs.

View our resources and programs on www.ntwa.com.au then contact the National Trust to discuss your needs.

Environment

Built by the Layman family in 1838, Wonnerup is set in farmlands close to a tuart tree forest near the Vasse Estuary wetlands. A second home was built in 1859, followed by a one teacher school across the track in 1874.

Wonnerup is a heritage listed site. The buildings are situated in their own grounds and are not wheelchair accessible.

There are public toilets on site.

There is no place to leave personal property during the excursion.

The buildings and grounds are accessible to schools by prior arrangement.

Transport

Transport is the responsibility of the school.

There is a public car park and buses can drop students close to the entry.

Student's Capacity

Visiting Wonnerup gives students a connection with the historic, social, and aesthetic heritage of Western Australia.

Wonnerup can accommodate students of all ages from K to 12. The buildings can accommodate small groups only.

There is no wheelchair access in the buildings.

Supervisor/Supervisory Team

It is the responsibility of the school to develop a supervisory team that meets their specific requirements in line with the recommendations for supervision outlined in this document.

The house accommodates small groups of approximately ten at any one time. School supervisory teams are asked to organise a rotating timetable so that no more than one group tours the house at one time.

The school supervisory team is asked to prepare students for an excursion to this venue using the briefing information provided within this document, and must accompany the students throughout the visit to actively monitor behaviour and intervene as necessary.

National Trust Staff and volunteers will lead, demonstrate, perform and present activities but will not undertake any role(s) in a supervisory context.

The National Trust advises school staff familiarise themselves with the site before bringing a group.

Supervision Strategies

The development of appropriate supervision strategies is the responsibility of individual schools. The school supervisory team must accompany the students throughout the visit to actively monitor behaviour and intervene as necessary.

The recommended ratios may vary according to the needs of your students. Please advise if you have any students with special needs so we can attempt to maximize the benefit of their visit.

This venue has a maximum group size of 60 students and suggests school supervisory teams consist of:

- Yrs K – 3 1 adult to 5 students
- Yr 4 – 7 1 adult to 10 students
- Yr 8 – 12 1 adult to 15 students

National Trust Education staff and volunteers will lead, demonstrate, perform and present activities but will not undertake any role(s) in a supervisory context.

Identification of Excursion Participants

Identification of excursion participants is the responsibility of the school, however we require students and school supervisory team members to be easily identifiable for both supervision and education & learning activities with the National Trust.

Suggestions include name tags, uniform if appropriate for the activities, small group identification.

Communication Strategies

Communication strategies between students and school supervisory team are the responsibility of the school. Please ensure everyone recognises the communication strategies.

The National Trust encourages the school supervisory team to have access to a mobile phone that they can be contacted on, and can use to call out during their site visit. Please note the area may be out of range to some mobile phone providers.

Should the school need to contact their staff during an excursion they may do so by contacting Wonnerup on (08) 9752 2039 or National Trust Head Office on (08) 9321 6088.

Emergency Response Plan

Schools will have their own Emergency Response Plan pertaining to the particular needs of their students.

Wonnerup has an emergency response plan in place. The Emergency Response Plan can be downloaded from www.ntwa.com.au or is available on request.

In the event of a site emergency, school supervisory teams are required to follow the directions of National Trust staff or volunteers.

It is suggested that school staff have access to a list of names of participating students, contact telephone numbers, student medical information and relevant health information of supervisors. It is recommended that school staff carry a First Aid Kit with them during the excursion.

School supervisory teams are strongly recommended to meet identified supervision requirements to further support these procedures.

Briefing Students and Supervisors

Teachers are advised to brief the school supervisory team and students about standards of conduct, supervision strategies, and emergency response plans prior to their visit to National Trust sites.

At the beginning of each visit National Trust staff and/or volunteers will inform school supervisory staff and students of

- their responsibilities and obligations
- location of toilets
- rules for the visit
- emergency procedures
- the heritage value of the venue
